ATTEMPT TO KILL HENRY FORD FAILS

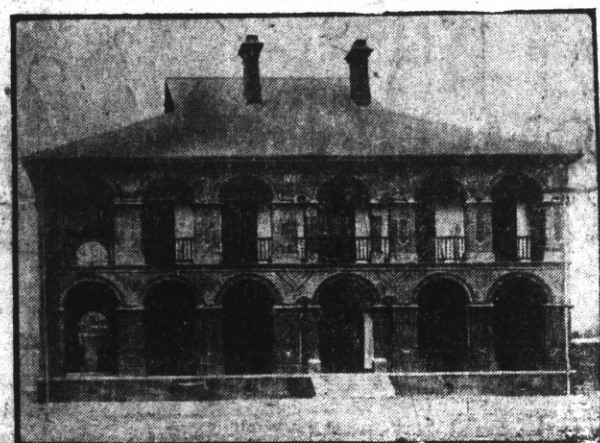

INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENT IS ATTACKED

Foreigners Flee Fury of Murderous Chinese

Nanking university was the haven of 120 Americans when rioting threatened. Shanghai uprisings against foreigners are feared following rioting in Nanking. Foreign guards in Shanghai have been doubled.

(By Pacific & Atlantic)

A thrilling escape was made from the American consulate headquarters at Nanking, shown above, by Consul John K. Davis and his staff when Cantonese began their raking over Nanking. They fled from here and scaled the city wall to seek refuge on Standard Oil company hill. They were able to do this after American and British warships laid barrage on the attacking Cantonese.

Many Americans In Interior At Mercy Of Mobs As Anti-Foreign Sentiment Grows

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Chinese mobs hold an increasing number of Americans at their mercy today, according to latest reports to the state department.

Evacuation of a large number by way of the Yangtze river under the protection of American warships has been cut off. Their fate is unknown.

These Americans are in the provinces of Anhwei and Kiangsu, north of Shanghai and south of the Yellow river. They are caught between two armies in one of the greatest battles of the Chinese revolution.

American Consul A. G. Swaney, at Tainanfu, has requested the military leaders to supply the refugees with troop trains and to permit them to pass through. If the request is granted the refugees will seek safety in some place far north of Shanghai, as it is not believed they can reach that city or points along the Yangtze river.

The Yangtze, down which American warships have escorted hundreds of Americans to safety in Shanghai, is no longer safe. American destroyers are being constantly fired upon from the shore. They are returning the fire and have so far escaped any serious damage.

Gunboat Help
On the upper Yangtze beyond the gorges that are navigable for only certain especially designed types of ship, American "river gunboats" are doing what they can to get Americans out of all towns. Below the gorges the destroyers are engaged in the same mission. Commanders of the ships have been cautioned to watch all small river craft for Americans seeking safety in flight and to take them off.

American ship commanders are meeting with the greatest difficulty everywhere, it was stated, in persuading Americans to leave. The majority have realized the danger and are now in Shanghai, where American warships and marines are concentrated in large numbers to protect them. However, there have always been a comparative few who have insisted on being left behind. It was a group of this kind who remained after the main evacuation of Nanking, which caused the trouble there.

Many Feared Lost
Grave fears are felt for many who have failed to heed the warning to leave. Probability of being reached by the river patrol becomes increasingly remote as the anti-foreign feeling rises, reports from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander-in-chief of the American forces declare.

Fears are even felt for the security of the American gunboats above the gorges of the Yangtze should there be a massed attack from the Chinese. The ships are (Continued on Page 3)

HI ASSAILS CANTONESE IN SPEECH

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 30.—Bitterly attacking the Cantonese, Senator Hiram Johnson of California, here today, heartily approved of the government's dispatch in rushing marines and ships to protect American lives and property in China.

"This is a dreadful and perilous situation," said the senator, who is on his way to California from Washington. "On the face of it the crisis isn't so apparent, even though the atrocities have been awful.

"But I'm afraid of mob psychology such as we saw in the World war. Nobody knows what these Chinese mobs may do when aroused."

He said the interests of this country and Great Britain are closely knit. He also spoke of more domestic concerns, and declared that he plans to campaign for the Boulder dam project on arriving home. "I think we can put it over," he said.

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, March 30.—Bands of armed and unarmed Chinese nationalists invaded the French concession after curfew tonight in Shanghai, according to the correspondent of the Daily Express.

During the night three different bands of Chinese not in uniform crossed the defense line at Siccawei Creek, the most vulnerable point in the French defense line. A small band of Annamese guards made no attempt to stop the invaders and they carried off the heavy iron gates erected for defensive purposes, the Daily Express states.

SHANGHAI, March 30.—Sheltered behind groups of small boys and girls, who had been herded in front of them, mobs of Chinese tonight attacked the French concession here.

Missiles were hurled over the protecting barricades and there was sporadic shooting.

Troops defending the concession were unable to return direct fire, because of the children in (Continued on Page 8)

Coroners Jury Clears Woman Of Murdering Home Wrecker

Prosecution of State to Continue in Case of Mr. Fiorentino

(By Universal Service)

OAKLAND, March 30.—A coroner's jury late today exonerated Mrs. Annie Fiorentino in shooting Frank Parisi on March 22 by returning a verdict reading: "We find this shooting justifiable homicide." However, the verdict will not effect the state's prosecution of Mrs. Fiorentino, who is now in the city prison on a charge of murder. According to the woman's signed statement to the authorities, Parisi had tried for two years to break up her home, had given her children poisoned candy and had threatened to have her husband deported.

Mr. Lombardi came to the Standard Oil company of California at the time of the consolidation with the Pacific Oil company last year. He was vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Oil company. He was born in Houston, Texas, in 1878, and was graduated from Yale in 1900, after which he took a special course in mining engineering in the University of California.

"If any settlement had been reached," said McMurray, "I would certainly have knowledge of it."

Lloyd Wright of counsel for Mrs. Chaplin, and Attorney Gavin McNab, chief of the comedian's legal forces, are both in New York, according to McMurray.

Gas Men Vie In Race For Attendance At Big Feed

The Tuxedo and Overall combatants have split into two groups. Powerful groups they are. Small children tremble and adult lips quaver when the name of Andrew Costanza, auditor for the Western States Gas and Electric company, is mentioned, or when in fear the name of "Big Chief" J. C. Hitchcock, of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, is mouthed in awesome syllables. These are the rival heads of the two groups.

Alberts, Inc., must look to its laurels. At all previous functions the attendance prize has fallen without struggle to Harry's cohorts. But Costanza swears that he is out for blood—plentiful and sanguine gore. Hitchcock is equally emphatic in his assertions that the prize is going to Pacific Gas even if only by a meter.

ASSASSINATION PLOT FAILS AS FORD IS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Physicians of Billionaire Fear Pneumonia and Complications

DETROIT, March 30.—Although Henry Ford was reported to be resting as well as could be expected at midnight, it was revealed by a high official source that the gravest fear of his attending physician is that he may develop pneumonia. Injuries to his chest were disclosed by X-ray photographs to be of such a nature as to impair the functioning of the lungs.

DETROIT, March 30.—William J. Cameron, editor of Ford's Dearborn Independent, tonight pressed for a statement, said:

"A great many persons are investigating this occurrence. It is believed that the owner of the Studebaker car which crowded Mr. Ford off the road is known. As for me, I would not have called this a deliberate attempt on the life of Mr. Ford, but you can draw your own conclusions."

DETROIT, March 30.—Henry Ford was marked for assassination in the drizzle of last Sunday night on the lonely bridge that spans the River Rouge. O. K. FOR "MAKE-UP"

Hairdressers and cosmetologists have a social conscience. They have wondered a little whether their profession were really good for the human race. So they submitted a great and vital question to a group of celebrities representatives of such varied walks of life as the stage, literature, journalism, legislation, education, feminism, the church and philanthropy.

The question was: "Is the use of cosmetics, make-up of face and hair, detrimental to the moral and physical development of American womanhood?"

The celebrities gave a single answer, "No."

Now if they would just put a similar question with the "good taste" substituted for morals and for health, would they get the same answer?

Men Who Made the World

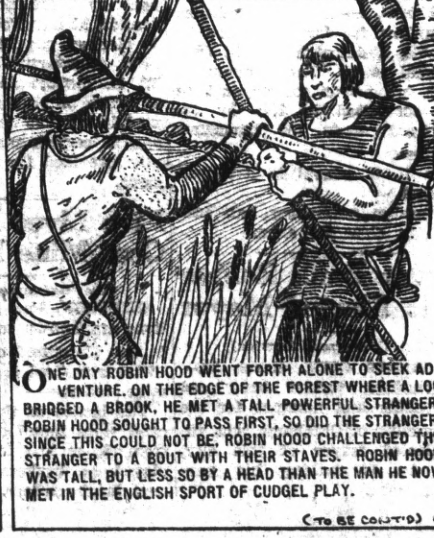

ENRAGED AT HAVING COME OFF SECOND BEST, ONE OF THE FORESTERS FITTED AN ARROW TO HIS BOW AND SHOT AT ROBIN HOOD WHO HAD GONE SOME DISTANCE DOWN THE FOREST GLADE. IT BURIED ITSELF IN A TREE CLOSE TO ROBIN HOOD'S HEAD. INSTANTLY THE HOT BLOOD MOUNTED IN THE YOUTH. HE WHIRLED, NOCKED ANOTHER ARROW AND WITHOUT FURTHER AD, SPED IT ON ITS WAY. IT BURIED ITSELF IN THE BREAST OF THE FORESTER WHO FELL DEAD TO THE GROUND. THEN, BEFORE THE OTHERS COULD GATHER THEIR WITS ABOUT THEM, ROBIN VANISHED IN THE DEPTHS OF THE GREENWOOD.

WHEN HE HAD PENETRATED TO THE HEART OF THE FOREST ROBIN HOOD SEATED HIMSELF. THE BOY WAS GONE FROM HIS HEART AND THE SUNSHINE FROM HIS SOUL. HE HAD SLAIN A MAN AND HAD POACHED UPON THE KING'S DEER. A REWARD WAS ON HIS HEAD AND HIS LIFE WAS THE PRICE OF CAPTURE.

ROBIN WAS DECLARED AN OUTLAW AND DEEP IN THE HEART OF THE FOREST THERE CAME TO HIM FROM TIME TO TIME MANY OTHER MEN WHO FOR ONE REASON OR ANOTHER, WHICH WE WOULD NOW REGARD AS TRIVIAL, HAD BEEN OUTLAWED AND DARED NOT ENTER THE TOWNS AND CITIES OF MERRIE ENGLAND. MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED GOOD, STOUT YOUNG MEN SO GATHERED ABOUT ROBIN HOOD AND CHOSE HIM TO BE THEIR CHIEF. THESE MEN, HAVING BEEN OUTLAWED BY BARONS, ABBOTS, KNIGHTS AND SQUIRES, SWORE LOYALTY TO ONE ANOTHER AND TO THEIR CHIEF AND TOOK OATH THAT THEY WOULD ROB THE RICH TO HELP THE POOR.

ONE DAY ROBIN HOOD WENT FORTH ALONE TO SEEK ADVENTURE. ON THE EDGE OF THE FOREST WHERE A LOG BRIDGED A BROOK, HE MET A TALL, POWERFUL STRANGER. ROBIN HOOD SOUGHT TO PASS FIRST, SO DID THE STRANGER. SINCE THIS COULD NOT BE, ROBIN HOOD CHALLENGED THE STRANGER TO A BOUT WITH THEIR STAVES. ROBIN HOOD WAS TALL, BUT LESS SO BY A HEAD THAN THE MAN HE NOW MET IN THE ENGLISH SPORT OF JUGGLER PLAY.

Personal Health Service

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady in a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered by Dr. Brady. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instruction. BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

"My son is just 17, writes Mrs. Somebody, in the old familiar role of the anxious mother, and he has started to talk to girls and go out with the girls, as boys will at that age. I feel that it is time he was informed about things a youth should know and I believe he would have more respect for information given in a book or pamphlet than for any instruction I can offer him. And so on, as anxious mother always does.

Now, curiously enough, I do not agree with Mrs. Somebody at all. Of course I have no son of that age or any other age, damn it, but I have spent a large share of my time watching and envying less deserving folk who have 'em in droves, and I believe the average boy has much more respect for sex instruction which comes straight from his father than he has for anything we can tell him in print. It doesn't matter so much if the old man's instruction is a little wabbling in spots or not quite as smoothly finished as the stuff in a book. The important thing is that the boy at that age, if he has not been misled by bad companions or older associates, thinks fairly well of his dad and has confidence that the old boy won't hand him any hokum. The father of a boy of 17 ought to be able to hold up his end in a brisk argument with the gloves, but even if the boy can put it all over him, there is still the understanding between them that the father simply leaves books and pamphlets out of the picture. I am well aware that this atmosphere is lacking in too many cases, but I know how finely it works out where it prevails.

If Mrs. Somebody will send the boy's name and address on a stamped envelope I'll mail him the sex instruction I think a boy of 15 should have. It is a little late to enlighten the boy, but better late than never, and let us hope the light comes not too late in this boy's case.

Meanwhile I have only this to say to the youth of 17: Watch your step and don't let the wise guys tell you anything you wouldn't care to discuss over the breakfast table.

Here is where the deadly, damning effect of the cowardly conspiracy of silence comes in. The boy has been kept "innocent" for 12, 14, 16 years, perhaps. Then he suddenly begins to show new interests. Parents recognize clearly enough that the time has come for them to do their duty by the boy. But alas, they don't know how to proceed. They procrastinate. They hope and pray, but they duck and dodge and evade a sacred duty. It is a sad awakening to a tragic end of bliss. And the heart-breaking thing about it is the conviction that a square deal in education, the right instruction in school from the very beginning, would wipe out this horrible stain and place the youth beyond the ruinous reach of the vicious instruction which is sure to come to him outside of the home under the conspiracy of silence.

When a boy hears something away from home that he doesn't feel quite free to talk over with his father, the chances are it is false. When anybody outside of the home presumes to give a boy an earful relating to sex life or reproduction, and makes a great secret of it, the chances are the instruction is vicious. If we have honest, wholesome information or advice to give about such matters we simply offer it with no more concern about secrecy than we have about any other matters of physiology, health or hygiene.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Here is News Indeed

A friend of mine got pneumonia from letting his wet clothing dry on him one winter day. He went into a factory and stood by a boiler until his clothes got dry. (L. F. R.)

Answer—An extraordinary coincidence like that makes news. As a general rule, when some one gets a wetting like that the pneumonia is only "feared"—it almost never happens. Sometimes this seems the very perversion of fate, for pneumonia is a fairly frequent disease and hundreds and thousands of folk get wet through every day, so pneumonia ought to happen now and then to somebody who has just had a wetting. Yet such a coincidence is rare enough to make news. So I am glad to publish your report in the paper.

Round Shoulders
My son, aged 9, is very round shouldered. He is rather tall and stoops or slumps a little. We asked our family physician and he recommended Prof. "S" brace. The brace is constantly slipping out of place and is of great nuisance. We are at a loss what to do, as we want him to grow up straight and strong. (S. W. H.)

Answer—As a rule it is unwise to apply artificial supporters of any kind, if there is no reason to consider the condition not amenable to correction. The boy with round shoulders, or the young girl with round shoulders, should have proper physical training, under a physical director such as the gym teacher in school or the director at the Y. Perhaps in this instance there is some underlying cause which the family doctor knows is not amenable to physical development. In such a case artificial support must be used. I am unable to advise you what kind of brace would be satisfactory. The doctor should attend to that.

These Evil Days
Is there a place in where you can get a Swedish bath or a Turkish bath? Are Turkish baths beneficial? What is the price, and what do you wear for a Turkish bath? (Mrs. K. L. C.)

Answer—You wear a foolish smile, I think. Anyway, I think you are, if you pay good money for such monkeyshines. One fine, healthy woman told me she prefers the domestic oriental bath—every Monday she takes a hard sweat over the laundry tubs. She preached a sermon. I can assure you that a thimbleful of active or natural sweating will do you more good than a bucketful of passive or artificial sweating at any price. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

LITTLE BY LITTLE

It costs a small fortune to bring a child into the world and to raise it. From the time when it knocks for admittance into this world, to the time when it demands a college education the drain on the pocketbook is enormous.

To plan the payment for a college education requires foresight, in those who are moderately circumstanced, and recently in our column I explained how a New Hampshire family sent their children to college via an apple tree orchard.

The following reader tells how she and her husband anticipated and met the same problem in another way:

"We have four children. As each enters the first grade we take out ten shares of Loan and Home stocks which cost us $5 a month. These mature at about the time the child graduates from high school, netting us $1,000 for each. Simultaneously we have invested in four $1,000 insurance policies to secure funds in case of the death of our provider before we have completed the Loan and Home payments.

"All this cost us was a little sacrifice of pride, as we had to wait a year to paper our downstairs, 15 months for a new rug, and about two years for some new furniture."

Now folks, don't think I am writing some unpaid advertising, but the above idea and the one which follows are both too good to be buried merely because of a little modesty on my part. So here is another letter.

"When our two boys were about 11 years their father asked them if they would like to take out insurance. He paid the first premium of $40, but since then they have paid each year with the money they saved from doing odd work. When it is paid each March they start to save again for next year and always manage to have enough in the bank to meet the premium. They put their savings into Liberty Bonds as fast as they get $50 or $100. They earn money shoveling coal, taking care of ashes, beating rugs, taking wall-paper off walls, excavating, handling cement, shoveling crushed stones, etc. These are not pleasant jobs, but the boys have STUCK."

There is little question, parents, but that your boy and girl will demand an education. The first question is "WILL YOU BE READY WHEN THE CHILD IS READY?" Another is "WILL THE CHILD, through systematic earning and saving on his own account, BE READY ALSO?"

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER
Have you lost your boy? As I write this 350 policemen in New York City are hunting for a 4-year-old boy.

You have not lost your boy, but you are losing him? You remember the little chap who used to get on father's knee and ask him all sorts of questions. Interesting little fellow, wasn't he? But now listen to him say "Shut up!" "So's your old man," "I'll come in when I get good and ready."

Can you get him back, or will it take 350 policemen to find him later in some mixup?

As a father, do you understand the problems of high school boys? Have you given thought to his adolescent problems? Is he giving thought to his own future? Now father, underscore the instruction sheet you want to read yourself and the one you want your boy

THE STORY THUS FAR

Fred Blake, when his mother's murderer dies peacefully, leaves for Sierra to wreak vengeance on the Monroes, whose long-lost son the dead man was supposed to be. He falls in with Buddy Monroe and his Boy Scout Troop. At the ranch, weakened by the sweetness of Mrs. Monroe and June, her daughter, he leaves a note and departs. On the way he saves Buddy from being killed during a Scout ascent of Mt. Whitney. He finds at the ranch that the note has miscarried.

"Fred," whispered Buddy, "yer a real brother." Goeh, yuh saved my life! And he clutched eagerly at Fred's hand, trembling hand. A little later the boy dropped off to sleep.

Mrs. Monroe walked softly in. She looked at Fred with a curious mixture of wonder and affection. Fred tumbled with his hat. "Didn't—didn't yuh get my note?" he asked. "What note?" At this moment June called to her, and she departed swiftly.

And Fred had found the note later, stuck halfway under a mattress right near the door, under which it had slipped when he had thrust it beneath the door in early morning. So they didn't know. And he was still as great a culprit, as guilty a man, as he had been when he passed himself off as a son to the saintly, trusting old woman. And June—June, gazing at him out of her great, blinding eyes, had merely whimpered, "Thanks, Fred, for saving Buddy's life," and hurried away. Fred, that sweet wild flower of the range.

N. There was nothing else to do. The saving of Buddy had been an incident. He must go away. He must carry out his original purpose of hurling himself out of the Monroe family's life—of burying himself somewhere to repent, forget.

He stood up determinedly and reached around to grasp the reins of Silver's bridle. And then suddenly he found himself gazing into the quiet, steady eyes of Bide Hanson, the sheriff of Sierra. "Where you goin', pardner?" asked Hanson, calmly.

Fred felt a heavy, sluggish tide of blood suffuse his face, his neck, his whole body. His arms dropped limply to his sides.

"I'm goin' away," he said mechanically.

"You're goin' back to town with me—you're wanted at the court-house!" Fred's head went up. His brain cleared.

At last.

CHAPTER XIV
THE SCOUTS' COMMAND

Holding his head high, Fred Blake rode into the town of Sierra, followed closely by Bide Hanson. The streets were curious, thronged—it seemed as if all of Sierra County had gathered in town. People were chatting gaily, dressed in their church-clothes, knocking the side-walks overflowing into the hard, dirt, unpaved street.

As Fred and Bide Hanson rode slowly up the street, side by side, the crowd gave them a wide, almost respectful, berth and as they passed the people were silent. Fred's face flushed with shame, but in his heart he felt a great area of relief, of worry gone, of genuine welcome to the public conviction and punishment he felt sure was about to be meted out to him. These people were gathered in their holiday clothes to see a criminal brought to justice. Let them stare well. No punishment could be more cruel and more exacting than the misery his own conscience had caused him while he strove to practice his deception on the innocent Monroes.

They rode slowly along in the middle of the road, scores of faces flashing curious glances at them. Fred looked at Bide Hanson's face, but it was grave, composed, inscrutable. And this was the man who so short a while ago had shook his hand heartily in the living-room of the Monroes' rancho and welcomed him to Sierra. Fred's lips twisted into a queer little smile. It was a funny world.

They dismounted in front of the court-house, and with Bide Hanson's bumpy figure directly between him, Fred pushed his way through the dense crowd outside and into the building. As he neared the door he heard a woman whisper shrilly: "That's him! That's him!" and his head went higher.

This was his punishment.

He walked slowly, resolutely down the aisle, and the crowded courtroom suddenly hushed into dead silence. Staring, bright eyes followed him as he strode along. Eyes—eyes—the eyes of honest people focused on a rank criminal, a pretender, a false eater of the bread of hospitality. Let them look! It was their right!

He stopped at the bar of justice. Yes, he had passed—Chuck Wilson, Lige Connor—the ranch boy—Mrs. Monroe—June. . . . All staring, staring. . . . Suddenly he noticed that a small, proud figure was sitting on the judge's dais. A Boy Scout! In the judge, he looked around—face a jury of small khaki-clad figures—Boy Scouts! Dimly, he wondered what it was all about. Bide Hanson was speaking in the silence of the room.

"Meet Hizzoner—Judge Pinky Swain—an' don't laugh," Fred stared into the face of the Scout. "—an' the District Attorney. . . . Fred's gapping eyes looked directly into the eyes of Buddy Monroe!

His head swam. God, this misery! "One day each year," said Hanson, solemnly, "we let the Boy Scouts run things in this here town—they can't do no worse'n we do!" Why didn't they end things—take him away?

The Scout judge stood up and rapped with his gavel. "Ladies an' gentlemen—or—I mean, order in the court-room!" There was quick laughter.

"Like all public officials, we gotta do somepin' tuh get our names in the papers—so th' big event tuh-day is gonna be a public hangin'!" Fred stiffened. "Buddy Monroe—the District Attorney—'I give yuh th' p'p'clars!"

Buddy stood up, a woeful, bandaged, little figure. He flashed a curious glance at Fred, then spoke up in a loud, clear voice:

"Poke, yuh jest heard the speech by ole Pinky—I mean dis-honorable court—but our hangin's gonna be diff'rent—we're hangin' a Boy Scout member on somebody that sure deserves the regular scout!"

A loud burst of applause rent the air. Suddenly the courtroom was in an uproar of laughter, applause, hearty cheers. Through the din Fred bewilderedly heard the plaintive voice of Buddy manfully crying: "He risked his life tuh save mine—he's a hero—even if he is my brother!"

It was the last straw. Honored by these wonderful boys—honored by a criminal—a malcontent—a potential home-wrecker, murderer, hunted by the police. . . . His eyes flashing, suddenly the plaintiff in action, Fred rose mightily, thrust up his lean, brown hand, and cried with a voice that instantly stilled the uproar:

"STOP!"

Dead, dead silence. Somewhere a child began to whimper with fright. Buddy's jaw dropped. Bide Hanson, who had been chuckling, leaned forward with interest.

"I can't stand this any longer! I'm no hero—I'm not even his brother! For murder!" A gasp, and silence again. "I came here with my heart full of hatred—to avenge my mother's death. . . . dead through the shock caused by the attack of 'Scar-hand' Monroe, lost son of Mrs. Monroe of this town." Fred passed, cleared his throat, plunged bravely on. "I can't accept their praises—or their medal—but I can try to be worthy of their friendship." He paused again, and then held out both his hands mutely toward Bide Hanson, lowering his head. "I'm glad it's over," he muttered in a low, strange voice. "Take me away from here, Sheriff."

In the amazed hush that followed a shrill, crackling old voice suddenly broke in upon the awe of silence. It was old Luke Burlingame, sitting near the front between his son Steve and Powell. "Hear that, Sheriff? Stop this tomfoolery an' jail 'im—before he kills somebody else!"

In the pandemonium that broke out, with Scouts running about, people talking in whispers, men shouting, old Luke turned quickly to Steve and Ed Powell and grinned. "Here's yer chance—crack that safe at the Monroes' an' get those securities while there's nobody home. Hurry up!" The younger Burlingame and Powell arose and slipped into the crowd.

Nobody seemed to notice a tall, dark-mustached man in a sombrero who had sat quietly throughout the entire proceedings, watching with keen interest. Now, as Fred Blake was being led out a side door he rose and followed.

SINCLAIR MAY GET NEW TRIAL IN GRAFT CASE

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Justice William Hitz of District of Columbia supreme court tomorrow will decide whether Harry F. Sinclair, oil millionaire, is to have a new trial following his conviction two weeks ago for contempt of the Senate.

Attorneys for the oil magnate argued for two hours before Justice Hitz today, raising 20 points of alleged errors in the conduct of the recent trial.

If another trial is denied, Justice Hitz will then fix a day on which to sentence Sinclair, lessee of the famous Teapot Dome naval oil reserve. A jail sentence of not less than 30 days and not more than one year in addition to a fine of from $100 to $1,000 is mandatory.

Sinclair's attorneys, Martin W. Littleton and George P. Hoover, intimated today that they will appeal the case to the supreme court if unsuccessful in the present argument. Peyton Gordon, United States attorney for the District of Columbia, who prosecuted the oil magnate, opposed the motion at today's hearings, he declared the defendant was given fair treatment and that no reversible errors were committed by the court. Sinclair and Albert S. Fall go on trial April 25 for conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the leasing of the Teapot Dome reserve.

MARINES BOON IN HAITI SAYS U. S. SENATOR

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Riots and bloodshed would have occurred in Haiti if Senator King (D) of Utah, had been permitted to land in that country. Rep. Henry T. Rainey (D) of Illinois, declared on his return here today from a visit to Haiti.

"Under the circumstances I believe the President Borno, of Haiti, acted wisely in excluding Senator King," said Rainey. Haitians dissatisfied with the Borno regime and American occupation would have capitalized a visit of their champion, Senator King, to start trouble, according to Rainey.

"After Senator King made his speech in the Senate last winter, calling Borno a usurper, extra guards had to be placed around his palace to protect him from possible harm," said Rainey.

"I was told that threats to poison Borno had been made by so-called patriots after Senator King's speech."

Rainey was one of 20 congressmen who visited Haiti and the Panama canal zone following adjournment of Congress.

Rep. Williams (R) of Illinois, one of the group, also declared trouble would have followed arrival of Senator King.

Rainey and Williams said that American occupation of Haiti had proved a boon to that country; that it would be necessary for American marines to remain there.

"If we take the marines out, there will be a revolution inside of 24 hours, with the natives slaughtering each other," declared Rainey.

"The average intelligence of the native Haitians is about that of an American school boy. They are a primitive people. Most of the trouble in Haiti is caused by politicians, who want to gain in power so they can graft."

"Under American control, their finances are carefully guarded. Many improvements are being made out of surplus caused by American diligence."

CLARA BOW AT THE CALIFORNIA

The launching of Clara Bow as a star and the return of Elinor Glyn to Paramount is, from the public's standpoint, one of those fortunate things that occur all too rarely in motion pictures. And what was an even more fortunate stroke was the uniting of the famous flapper and the distinguished English novelist in a single film.

In the event that these statements are doubted, we strongly recommend that all doubters attend the California theater and witness the result of this combination in the Elinor Glyn-Clara Bow production, "It," which opened last evening.

For exquisite comedy and for touches of heart-gripping pathos, Paramount's latest takes rank among the outstanding releases of the current season.

Miss Bow portrays a vivacious American shop-girl possessed of the strange power of "It," as explained by Elinor Glyn early in the picture. And, after learning the true definition of her theory, almost any audience in the world would be inclined to agree that Clara has "It" to the nth degree.

Clarence Badger, the man who directed Bebe Daniels in "The Campus Flirt," betters all previous efforts in his new production. Antonio Moreno, Miss Bow's leading man, is superb. H. Kinley Martin, credited with the photography, presents several unusual camera shots.

Other features on the same program include "Easy Payments," a comedy based on "The Married Life of Helen and Warren"; a Hodge Podge; "International News," and Larry Canelo at the organ.

WAR LORD OF PEKIN APPEALS TO THE POWERS

(By Universal Service)
Special Cable Dispatch.

PEKING, March 30.—A statement tantamount to an appeal to the United States and other powers to intervene in China was issued tonight by Chang Tso Lin, war lord and commander of the northern forces.

"America and the other powers are urged to consider the Chinese war as an international struggle and not as civil strife," said Chang Tso Lin. "Recognize your real enemies, the rioters who are in the hands of the bolsheviks. There is no telling where the anti-foreign movement may end, once it is started."

Reports reaching this city tonight indicate that Chinese attacks against Americans in southern China are increasing. A grave situation has developed in the area near Canton, according to a dispatch to the American legation here from American Consul Jenkins, Canton.

Protests have already been made to the Nationalist government. Two American missions, one at Paochow, the other at Kweilin, have been looted, reports state.

The priests at the Paochow mission are safe. The Kweilin mission was deserted when the Chinese looted it.

Blackjacks Fly In Film Union Squabble

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, March 30.—Three members of the Chicago motion picture operators' union were attacked last night, presumably by members of a faction opposing the present president, Tommy Malloy. The three men attacked were Arthur Devent, who was shot; Joseph Campbell, who suffered a fractured skull when he was blackjacked; and Robert E. Souter, who was uninjured because he was fleet of foot. The attackers were said to be members of the faction which supported Harry Gusenberg, who was defeated for the presidency.

Bandit Gets $8500 In Bank Holdup

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, March 30.—Having lain hidden in an attic for 24 hours with a supply of whisky and lemons for his "food," a single masked bandit dropped down into a branch of the Hellman Commercial and Trust Savings bank here today, held up seven employees and escaped with $8500.

The robbery was unusual, as the lone robber had equipped himself with false pistols, dummy hands and other apparatus to give the impression that he had accomplices.

The bureau was authorized by congress to make such loans starting April 1, but the senate filibuster prevented passage of the deficiency bill appropriating the necessary funds.

Hines asked if he might borrow $25,000,000 temporarily from the adjusted service certificate fund, which the bureau maintains to pay off insurance premiums. Comptroller General McCarl is expected to rule shortly whether such a transfer of funds would be legal.

General Hines announced, however, that the bureau will be able to lend money to veterans at the rate of $3,000,000 a month from funds paid in on converted government insurance. This will be available regardless of whether the bureau is given authority to use the $25,000,000 additional, he said.

The bureau will start loaning Friday and sub-offices throughout the country have received notice to cooperate in the work.

"Across the Pacific," the Warner Brothers spectacular melodrama of Spanish-American war days, especially the Philippine campaign, is drawing enthusiastic crowds to the Richmond theater, where it is now being shown.

Monte Blue stars as the southern youth, who, after a misunderstanding with his sweetheart, takes to the road just as the time when McKinley is calling for volunteers to avenge the sinking of the Maine. Monte joins up and ships across the Pacific to the Philippines, where Aguinaldo, from his jungle fastnesses, is playing havoc with all who oppose his self-appointed dictatorship!

Roy Del Ruth has reproduced with amazing reality the atmosphere of the time. His handling of almost 100 people, including soldiers and natives, and of the incidents of the guerrilla warfare, as well as the more intimate touches of humor and romance, prove him to be one of the greatest directors of the generation.

Jane Winton, who plays the part of Claire Marsh, the demure and bewitching Kentucky girl, is one of the real "finds" of the movie world. Myrna Loy gives the part of Roma, Filipino love girl, a passionate beauty and reality which lifts it to a high dramatic plane. Sojin, the Japanese actor, adds another gem to his sinister crown by his portrayal of one of Aguinaldo's secret agents.

All the players have entered into the stirring, roughshod atmosphere of the semi-historic panorama with fine spirit and understanding, but to Monte Blue, in his photographic creation of a soldier of the 90's, too high praise cannot be given.

Blue possesses the rare ability of expressing every shade of feeling, of carrying the beholder with him in thought, and of inspiring interest and affection.

Other features include "Take Your Time," a Mack Sennett comedy; "Sportlight," and "Prizma."

Exports Of U. S. Total 5 Billion C. C. Report Says

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—American exports were valued at $4,898,000,000 in 1926, approaching the 5-billion dollar mark for the second year in succession, the United States chamber of commerce announced today.

The total value, however, was $101,000,000 less than in 1925, due chiefly to a decline in export prices, notably raw cotton, which dropped from 24 to 17 cents the volume of exports was practically as great as in 1925.

Every continent except Europe made greater purchases from the United States in 1926 than during the previous year. Asia shows the largest gain, purchasing $564,343,000 worth of merchandise, a gain of 16 percent.

25 Millions Are Set Aside By U. S. For Veteran Loans

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Authority to set aside $25,000,000 from other funds to care for veterans seeking loans on their adjusted compensation certificates was requested by Directors Frank T. Hines of the veterans' bureau today.

The bureau was authorized by congress to make such loans starting April 1, but the senate filibuster prevented passage of the deficiency bill appropriating the necessary funds.

Hines asked if he might borrow $25,000,000 temporarily from the adjusted service certificate fund, which the bureau maintains to pay off insurance premiums. Comptroller General McCarl is expected to rule shortly whether such a transfer of funds would be legal.

General Hines announced, however, that the bureau will be able to lend money to veterans at the rate of $3,000,000 a month from funds paid in on converted government insurance. This will be available regardless of whether the bureau is given authority to use the $25,000,000 additional, he said.

The bureau will start loaning Friday and sub-offices throughout the country have received notice to cooperate in the work.

'Y' SECRETARY TALKS AT MEET OF KIWANIS

A local hegira to New Zealand, vying with that to Weepah, may take place as the result of the interesting talk given by William Gillander, general secretary of the Oakland Y. M. C. A. and well known Rotarian of that city, before the Richmond Kiwanis club at its meeting in Hotel Quince yesterday.

Gillander especially stressed the liberal legislation in New Zealand. Liberty is the outcome of what appears on the surface to be drastic legislation, the speaker declared. Capital and labor are brought together much more effectively.

In closing Gillander described the topography of the country and told of the rich natural resources of the island kingdom. Theodore Madsen, dean of boys at Richmond Union high school, was chairman of the day. High school students furnished the music for the occasion.

Contractor Sued For Damages By Two At Martinez

MARTINEZ, March 30.—Suit was filed in the superior court here today by Tony Reis and Harry Milano against G. W. Cushing, Richmond contractor, for damages amounting to $348, which it is alleged resulted from an automobile accident February 21.

The complaint charges that the Reis automobile plunged into an open sewer in Antioch upon which Cushing had the contract. Reis' car was wrecked and it is charged that the crash resulted because there was no guarding light protecting the motorist.

J. C. Penney Co. Will Celebrate 25th Birthday

Plans for its silver anniversary which marks the close of 25 years of successful merchandising, are being made by the J. C. Penney company. The first J. C. Penney store was opened in Kemmerer, Wyoming, April, 1902. Since that time the company has expanded to such an extent that now their stores are serving the public in nearly every city of any size in California, as well as other states. The store carries a dependable and stable line of goods and this coupled with a conservative policy enables the company to maintain a home service that is eminently successful. The J. C. Penney store here was established four years ago last August and was the 425th store in the chain. The chain boasts a string of 780 stores to date, and the sales have grown from $28,000 in 1902 to $116,000,000 last year.

Co-op Plan Is Urged By Hanlon

MARTINEZ, March 30.—Actuated by the great saving which would ensue with the favorable action of the Senate educational committee on the bill which would permit co-operative purchasing of school supplies, County Superintendent of Schools W. H. Hanlon is in Sacramento urging that the bill be passed on these grounds.

Hanlon estimates that a saving of $3,500 would be made in Contra Costa county alone under the new bill which provides that the county superintendent and the county board of education would make all purchases. Under the present ruling each district is empowered to purchase all its own supplies.

TUXEDOS or OVERALLS?

History of the Overall

A Short and Inauthentic History of The Overall

By BRAINLESS BARTON

Into the river plunged Hatchface, our caveman hero, and for a few minutes cooled his seared anatomy, scalded by the hot soup.

When he returned to his abode wet and dripping and still very much scorched, Mrs. Hatchface unlimbered the first wise crack of the ages.

"I told you so!" is what she said. "Much as I delight in reflecting what a comfortable mattress your erstwhile hirsute facial adornment will make, I can't help thinking what a blundering idiot you were to toss away the protection it afforded."

"Shakespeare couldn't have written a better panning," replied Hatchface. "But what's done is done. You'll simply have to get your 'think tank' to working to figure out a suitable substitute. I like soup but I don't like to be burned."

"A bib!" shouted Mrs. Hatchface. "Whaddya think I am, a child?" demanded Hatchface.

So the spouse of the caveman retired to the sewing room and got busy on the Singer, returning several minutes later with an hideously fashioned piece of rainment.

Hatchface let out a loud and long guffaw when he rested his lamps on it.

"That takes the cake over all," he said.

"Fine," said Mrs. Hatchface. "That's just what we'll call it, OVERALLS." So that, dear friends of radioland is how the overall came into useful existence. Take it or Leave it!

On the evening of April 18th the Richmond Merchants' Association are giving a dinner dance to their employees. Much discussion has arisen as to whether it shall be an informal or a formal affair.

The various merchants listed below are expressing their opinions. The history of the TUX and the OVERALL is given to the public that it may be better informed as to the relative merits of the contrasting clothes. To Be Or Not To Be—That's the question.

Read What The Merchants Have To Say

CLINTON SMITH SAYS:

Any one who wants a Tux will have to speak fast, and I pity the man who stutters. Stock is going fast—no, it's not private, I'm not in that kind of a business.

A. C. BURDICK SAYS:

No Tuxedo for me! Did you ever hear of an auctioneer who bellowed in the approved fashion that wore a Tux to set off his lungs. When I auction flour, writing paper, and maybe false teeth for all I know, at that certain party, I'll take overalls in preference to the curse of man in the shape of a boiled shirt.

R. J. RALPH SAYS:

If anybody yells "Fore" at the Get Together, that's not my baby—that's me. I may bring a caddy and a divot or two just to show the whole wide world that golf is golf and a party's a bust.

BEN MALIK SAYS:

Well, I'm back in the fold, I'll tell all the mangy sheep dogs that want to know. All I ask is that I be given the "several" over at that dinner dance. It'll be worth it—ask the man who wears one.

AL FURRER SAYS:

Seems to me a combination suit would be ideal for the big merchants' brawl. Kind of natty, ecst, chic, and all that. Then you don't run the risk of having your gullet slit by some polite Tuxedo wearer, or being beamed by some vigorous Overall booster.

FRED LA MOINE SAYS:

I don't know what I'll wear but the delicate odor of bath salts and OO LA LA powder that will emanate from my highly civilized being at the Get Together will be worth more than a casual sniff or two.

PROCLAIMS THE SHOE MART:

Any little Cinderella who's whiling away her time in the ashes has her opportunity with us. Come on down and see our exhibit, little girl. The slipper in the window may fit you.

REMARKS THE AMERICAN CLEANING COMPANY

Well, we've cleaned up everybody in town for the occasion. And we have a monopoly on the tickets. What more do you want?

History of the TUX

By RAY VAUGHN

Now old Reggie Van Swiggenheimer (consult Burke's Peerage for the rest of his name, or if you can't get that in England's former colony, consult any well known bootlegger in Tuxedo Park). yes, to be sure, old Reggie was wroth, incensed, and to be frank quite burned up—as was also his dress suit.

He turned on his favorite valet, Jepson, with an angry snarl. But snarls were not enough. The mint juleps of which Reggie had already imbibed freely, had done their deadly work. The erstwhile peaceable Reggie threw his valet across a chair which most regrettably was not overstuffed, and proceeded to divest Jepson of his menial garb which bore a striking resemblance to the dress suit which the cleaner had burned up with his iron, or the potent beverage with which he was wont to pursue his toil.

Realizing that the party must be different and that he had no other suit, Reggie seized an axe—or do millionaires have axes in their rooms—and cut off the tail of his valet's dress.

Then wrapping Jepson in a tablecloth guaranteed to slip at any crucial moment, Reggie sallied downstairs clad in the first, honest to Job Tuxedo in this fair land of supposed freedom. The guests were aghast and Jepson was embarrassed.

The tablecloth slipped when Jepson entered (we must have a crisis). Jepson seized a napkin—several of them—while the guests applauded. They applauded both the first Tuxedo and the first veil dance ever originated. It's the truth . . . well, anyway that's what the stepfather of the aunt's uncle who had a great-granddaughter who saw the spectacle said.

SPORTS

Local Tossers Will Get Into Action Here

Fear-stricken nags rear on barely lifted hoofs as they pass the Civic Center just across the street from the city hall. They whinny in terror as they notice the ploughed and harrowed ground where Richmond barnyard golfers plan to hold full swing within a short time. Who knows what might not happen to an honest quadruped if the tossers of equine poignance suddenly run out of "hoss sliders"? A horse upon whom the breath of scandal had never fallen might be suddenly assaulted and deprived of the iron sandals that had hitherto kept four shapely feet on the narrow path.

For the Richmond All Stars have begun to function. A league will be formed in a short time for the ancient pastime of tossing mule brogans on the new courts which the city council is preparing for the purpose. The outside dimensions of the plot will be 115 by 67 feet, while a territory 99 feet long and 46 feet wide will be devoted to the courts. Twelve alleys will be laid out for the sport.

Fitting dedication exercises will mark the completion of the courts, J. O. Redman, of the All Stars, reported last night. Others interested in the formation of a club for outside competition include J. U. Craig, Hubert Holland, John Muzzl and Jack Newman.

Boy Scout Baseball Team Starts Season

Considered a strong aggregation, the baseball team of Troop No. 6, Boy Scouts of America, will launch its 1927 campaign on next Saturday, it was announced yesterday, by Scoutmaster W. C. Locke. Earl Covell is captain of the team. Locke urged all members to be in attendance at the next meeting as special matters will be taken up.

Stellar pitching by Merie Anderson enabled the Richmond high school ball tossers to triumph over the Roosevelt nine by a 4-1 count at a scheduled game played on the Roosevelt diamond Tuesday. For four innings Anderson pitched runless and hitless ball. C. Pinto and Walter Gordon showed up well with the stick for the locals. ASSASSINATION PLOT FAILS AS FORD IS HURT IN AUTO CRASH authoritative source in a guarded statement, barely missed its purpose.

Injury Internally

Ford tonight is in the Henry Ford hospital, bandaged and recovering from an operation made necessary by the crash. Although his physicians, through a bulletin issued by Dr. R. D. McClure, minimize the seriousness of Ford's condition, it is said on good authority that he is not out of danger. He has been spitting and passing blood, an indication, it was said, that he was injured internally. Ford is 64 years old.

Police Scour City

All Detroit's available police, city detectives and scores of private operatives have been searching vainly for the men who crowded Ford's coupe over the embankment. The dramatic scene, which until tonight has been kept strictly confidential at Ford's request, was pieced together from many but reliable if reluctant sources.

Drove Alone

In the rain that set in at twilight last Sunday Ford, as his custom, entered his Ford coupe for a visit to his laboratory in the administration building at Dearborn. Dearborn is about 15 miles out of Detroit. A few hours before his visit, it is known that he had expressed the keenest displeasure at efforts by certain of his executives to provide him with a bodyguard. He is quoted as having declared he would discharge anyone who again "hired" detectives to watch him. He was alone in his car as it left the stone gates of his estate.

What's a Vote More Or Less In Chicago?

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, March 30.—A special grand jury to investigate charges that State's attorney Robert E. Crowe has been lining up gangland for a Thor J. son holiday next Tuesday at the city election, was ordered today by Chief Justice, William J. Lindsay of the criminal court. He indicated that he might appoint a special prosecutor for the jury.

The charges against Crowe were made by the Democrats, who insisted that the state's attorney had arranged for a reign of terror at the polls.

The order for the special grand jury is returnable Monday, and was granted following extended arguments by Mr. Crowe and attorneys for the Democrats.

MEXICO CITY, March 30.—Edgar Wilkins, American citizen, of Savannah, Georgia, has been killed by outlaws in the state of Jalisco, unconfirmed reports indicate today.

Wilkins and his son were kidnapped several days ago, according to reports. The son was released and sent to Mrs. Wilkins for $40,000 ransom. When the money was not paid within the stipulated time, the threat to kill Wilkins was carried out.

The American embassy and the United States consulate at Guadalajara have registered protests.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Robert McBroom, a sports writer on the Chicago Evening Post, was scared to death today when he was held up by thieves, according to a report made by the coroner's physician.

His body was found on the outskirts of the city, his pockets rifled. There was no marks of identification.

Dr. Morgan L. Trainor said death had been due to congestion of the brain, probably resulting from sudden fright.

New Explanation Of Creation Is Offered

(By Universal Service)
BERKELEY, April 4.—Human beings arose from eggs made from sifted cat-tail seeds!

No, this is not the latest scientific hypothesis, although it did come from the University of California.

This is the explanation of the creation offered by Washoe Indians of Minden, Nev., just translated by Grace Dangberg, research worker, in the department of anthropology.

The tale is that of a mythological old woman named Mentusu, who burned the fuzz from cat-tail seeds, sifted them, and called them eggs. She divided them into piles, one to be Patates and cowards, another to be brave Washoe warriors. Putting these into a jug, she gave them to the coyote to carry to the Washoe valley. The coyote became tired at Cedar Pass, Nev., and opened the jug. People streamed out like bees, the Washoes claim, to populate the earth. The old woman then turned into a thunderbolt.

U. S. Will Spend $1,000,000 In Far East Buildings

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Undisturbed by turbulent conditions in China, the federal foreign service building commission met for organization purposes today and decided to spend about $1,000,000 in new buildings for government agents in the far east and other places.

Congress established the commission last winter and authorized an appropriation of $10,000,000 for new buildings for diplomatic, consular and other agents of the United States abroad.

This money is to be spent under discretion of the commission in annual installments of about $2,000,000.

Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of Commerce Hoover, members of the commission, attended today's meeting. Others present were Senator Swanson, Dem., Virginia; Representative Porter, Rep., Pennsylvania; Representative Linthigum, Dem., of Maryland; Keith Merrill, of the state department, and Carl T. Schaneman, representing Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Representative Porter was elected chairman and Merrill secretary of the commission.

Nine Cities Named

Cities selected for immediate construction projects were Tcheran, Managua, Quito, Ecuador; Yokohama, Penang, Straits Settlement; Kobe, Japan; Calcutta, Prague and Bangkok.

It is the purpose of the commission to concentrate American agencies in foreign capitals under one roof where that is feasible, explained Chairman Porter.

In far eastern countries it is planned to provide homes for America's agents, because native accommodations are unsuited for Americans, he said.

Will Enhance Prestige

"As a result of the building program now under way the first comprehensive effort to provide adequate quarters for our diplomatic and trade representatives, I believe good will and prestige of the United States will be enhanced," said Chairman Porter. He added:

The Best Investment Is In Fong Wan Herbs

4837 Shattuck Ave., Oakland, Cal. July 30, 1926.

Ten years ago I had Malaria which left me with a twinging pain in my left kidney and pinning around my left side.

Before I came to Oakland I had treated with numerous physicians and had been in several hospitals in New York. As I got no relief whatever, I was advised to make a change of climate. I therefore came West, but here I suffered as badly as ever.

Finally a friend urged me to try the FONG WAN HERBS. One week of that treatment gave me wonderful, permanent relief. During the year that has elapsed since I have had absolutely no indications of my former complaints.

How wonderful it seems that the FONG WAN HERBS could thus help me after the doctors and hospitals had failed. I am a barber by trade. Had it not been for the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENTS how could I have earned a living while suffering with those terrible pains?

I am very thankful to the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST for what he has done for me and am giving him this testimonial as a token of my gratitude.

Ask Law To Ban Liquor Exporting In Canada

(By Universal Service)
VANCOUVER, B. C., March 30.—Anxious that the dominion government shall not end its session without abolishing the rum running traffic from British Columbia, Attorney General Manson today made representations to Premier King asking that parliament pass a law banning for all time all liquor export companies from this province. In addition, legislation forbidding the importation of liquor into any province having government liquor control, is requested.

Unless parliament takes action within the next few days the matter will have to stand over until next fall.

Reinforcements Rushed
Reinforcements have been rushed to the French concession. Defensive measures in the international settlement have been increased.

American residents in the French concession, which is considered the weakest point in the foreign lines, have asked for American defending troops. The commander of the French military deems the French forces sufficient at present.

Barricades have been erected between the international settlement and the French concession, which make it almost impossible for the infuriated Chinese to reach the international area, even though they may penetrate the French concession.

The Chinese attack occurred at Avenue Des Deux Republiques. Annamite troops are defending the concession.

Goosestep, As Germany Honors War Dead

quite small and can navigate the gorges only with assistance from the shore and at some seasons of the year not at all. They can not be reached from the river below.

At Changsha, in central China, on a small river running into the Yangtze, a serious situation has developed. The demonstration is now anti-British. After a clash with the British small warship Woodcock, the Chinese demanded that the vessel retire immediately, that British sailors be turned over to the Chinese for punishment and that the British turn over the concession there. No further word has been received. There are, according to state department reports, 365 Americans in this region.

Expect Riot At Hankow

Hankow is expected to become the scene of an outbreak at any moment, Consul General Lockhart reported. It is one of the largest industrial cities in China. Most of the Americans have been sent down the river to Shanghai. There remain, however, 26 men, 11 women and 9 children, all missionaries, and 55 other Americans of whom 19 are women and 8 children. Hankow is 600 miles up the river from Shanghai.

Admiral Williams reported that American and British missionaries were stoned as they left Anking (not Nanking). There were 47 in the party. At both Anking and Nanking short batteries fired upon warships and river boats with refugees as they pass. At Anking a Dr. Taylor, wife and children refused to leave. Admiral Williams reported, and their fate is unknown.

Tense At Shanghai

At almost all of these river points there are large numbers of foreigners in the outlying country and it is feared they will not be able to reach the river. Officers and crew are scanning the river shores for refugees.

The situation at Shanghai continues tense, but the large number of foreigners there are still secure within the barricaded foreign colony.

Cal's Vacation? Demands 4 Talks

WASHINGTON, March 30.—

President Coolidge's tentative itinerary now provides for four speeches by him before he departs for the West on his summer vacation. He will speak in New York on April 25 at an anniversary banquet of newspaper editors. He has tentatively agreed to address the American Medical association's annual convention here in May. His Memorial day address at the Arlington cemetery and his speech to the semi-annual business meeting of the government here on June 11 are set fixtures.

County Building Booms

El Cerrito is experiencing a building boom that bids fair to rival comparatively that of Richmond. Permits totaling $11,500 were issued by C. F. Walsh yesterday.

In Martinez the De La Salle Institute plans to develop and market a tract of 25 acres providing building sites for 125 new homes. The development will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Breaking of ground has already started for the first unit of 25 new homes.
